

About my Teepee

I used five pillars for my teepee because some of the plains Native Americans used four facing North, East, South, and West then one in between two of them where the wind blows most

My door is facing north because the wind blows mostly from the South

The door flap is used for keeping snow, rain, and wind out of the teepee

The door is facing north because they thought most of the wind was coming from the south, east, and west.
