

1. Identify:

Manuel Lisa was a Spanish citizen and later became an American citizen who while living on the western frontier

William Ashley: Was an American miner, land speculator and territorial militia officer.

John Jacob Astor: was a German American businessman.

Alexander Culbertson: A fur trader and a diplomat.

Pierre-Jean de Smet: He began his novitiate at White Marsh.

2. Define:

Monopoly: the exclusive possession or control of supplies for trading.

Rendezvous: a meeting at an agreed time and place.

Brucellosis: a bacterial disease typically affecting cattle and buffalo and causing fever in humans

Capitalism: an economic and political system.

3. Is a system of hierarchy found in restaurants.
4. The metis played a very valuable role on the western part because they got the buffalo for them.
5. What is a free trapper? A free trapper is a person who trades what they catch.
6. What role did the Women play in the fur trade? It was varied. Although there was a handful of women in the fur country afterwards.
7. They Turned to bison because they gave more fur per each bison.
8. It spread because someone with smallpox touched the fur spread to the fur then other people touched it.

Critical Thinking

1. They had so much fur they could trade it and then just get more
2. Because they got the most fur out of any of the tribes

4. I think it does matter because he needs to know the land to even begin talking about it.
5. I think bison did because small pox got cured but they needed the buffalo to survive so the buffalo could not repopulate.
6. Because they demanded the trade instead of negotiating

Past to Present

1. The issues and concerns of today is they are kind of sort of endangered so they need to live
2. Today's trapping is highly regulated with its rules unlike when the fur trade happened.

Make it Local

1. I don't think the fur trade effected where we are now because the only reason our town is here is because of Jim Bridger.